Sirs,

Pursuant to your request, please find enclosed the Preliminary Search Report issued in accordance with article R.612-57 from the Intellectual Property Code citing the documents, which can be taken into consideration to determine the novelty and the inventive activity of the invention.

In accordance with article R.612-59 from the aforementioned Code, you have three months from the date of the receipt of the Preliminary Search Report to respond to it in writing. Before this time limit expires and upon request it might be renewed once.

According to the category of the cited references, you might be obligated to respond, (for example, if the Preliminary Search Report cites X or Y references). In this instance, the letter is flagged with a red sticker and failing to respond will result in a rejection. In the opposite case, the letter will be flagged with a yellow sticker.

In any case, it is in your best interest to take into consideration all of the cited references.

In accordance with articles R.612-58 and R.612-60 of the aforementioned Code, your response may consist of:

- Either new claims (in triplicate). In this instance, you will have to highlight the changes made to the initial claims. You may include the observations, which highlight the characteristics of the new claims that overlook the rejections of the cited prior art references
- Or, observations, which form the subject of rejections of, cited prior art references.

Sincerely yours,
